Exercise 1

Design a multi-page website that should display the following features about flowers.

1. Add a dashed border to h1 elements with a color of your choice for the heading.
2. Create "Nature of Flowers" page. It should include unordered list with image bullets of your choice.
3. Create or list the categories of the information about flowers. In the list add "Facts – Flower" as a one of the categories.
4. When you click the link "Facts-Flower", it should display the contents in different border styles.
5. Add a link in the list to the "References – Additional Resources" page. The page shall include Wikipedia link or any other links as a reference. Use distinctive styles for the link, visited link, and when rolling over the link. You can utilize color, text-decoration, and background-color properties to achieve the perfect website design.
